

the New DOOR LOCK Ø27 PL 100

After more than 40 years of experience on all markets and more than one million locks sold in its recent history, Pastore & Lombardi launches its latest range, the PL100 series, named after the 100 anniversary of the company.

The new range comes from the sum of design and experience of the company history, optimizing quality, design, and, above all, functionality. PL100 rear door lock is designed for an easier use: the large ergonomic handle together with the new opening button gives an improved operational smoothness. Laboratory and pilot customers' tests confirmed the great performance of this new locking system. New additional seal accommodations help to meet both customs and corporate needs.

The new lock range will partner the current models, making the company range the most comprehensive in the market.

PL100 program includes a completely new series of recessed locks.
